

Webinar

Webinar: A school-based approach to vaping prevention - The OurFutures Prevention Model

FREE WEBINAR
A school-based approach to vaping prevention:
The OurFutures Prevention Model

Presented by
Dr Amy-Leigh Rowe
& Annabelle Hawkins

Evidence ratings:

This resource has undergone expert review. See our Help/Q&A section for more details.

Year:

Targeted Drugs: Drugs (General), Electronic Cigarettes/Vaping

Tags: vaping, e-cigarettes, school-based prevention

Origin: Australian

Cost:

Free

Attachments

---

 Webinar Handout  Webinar Transcript

Developers

---

Dr Amy-Leigh Rowe and Annabelle Hawkins, the Matilda Centre for Research in Mental Health and Substance Use, the University of Sydney.

Available

---

1-hour webinar recording and handout, available on demand.

Summary

---

Presented by Dr Amy-Leigh Rowe and Ms Annabelle Hawkins, this webinar is for school staff, parents, and any health professionals interested in learning more about vaping prevention.

The webinar provides an overview of vaping among young people and offers practical strategies for prevention. Based on two decades of research, covers what works and what doesn't in school-based prevention. The webinar also introduces the OurFutures model of prevention and provides insight into the development and current status of their newest program, the OurFutures Vaping program.

Benefits

---

This webinar provides:

- An update on e-cigarette use in Australia
- Research into school-based prevention strategies
- Information about the OurFutures Vaping program

Evidence Base

---

This webinar was developed by Dr Amy-Leigh Rowe and Annabelle Hawkins at the Matilda Centre for Research in Mental Health and Substance Use, University of Sydney. It was informed by a review of research evidence on this topic.

(Webinar conducted on 21/02/2024)

© 2024 Positive Choices | Built by Netfront